

The Children of Dallington CE Primary School with their collection of food, clothes and toys collected for the charity Warming up the Homeless which encompasses their school ethos of 1 Timothy 4:12be an example to the believers with your words, your actions, your love, your faith and your pure life.

Since November the children have been working closely with a local charity called Warming up the Homeless. The children had a visit from Trudy Hampton, a leader at Warming up the Homeless. She spoke to the children about what the charity did and how they supported the homeless in Eastbourne, St Leonards, Hastings and Bexhill. She explained that it wasn't always just adults who were homeless and that not all homeless lived on the street. When she left she left behind a basket for the school to collect food for the breakfast packs they serve the homeless.

The children and the parents have been amazing. They have collected lots and lots of food, they have also donated clothes, toys and the children have all made Christmas cards for the people they support. They also raised over £100 at their recent Nativity which they are donating to this wonderful charity.

The children of Dallington CEP School have really lived up to their ethos and have been shining lights and good examples for everyone.
